Estate of $50,000 Involved and Much Oratory Expected From Attorneys.

Arguments in the hearing to determine the mental condition of Mrs. Catharine M. B. Jones, the eighty-five-year-old widow of "Bill Jones the Avenger," would-be slayer of Charles J. Guiteau, assassin of President Garfield, will be made Monday, Justice Barnard comoleting today instructions to the jury. On the verdict of the jury will depend whether a committee is named to take charge of the $50,000 estate of the woman, as desired by Miss Charlotte E. Bates, a niece, who instituted the proceedings. The case has disclosed considerable feeling on the part of opposing counsel, and much interest cen

Seek Twelfth Venire In the McNamara Case

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 30.-While deputy sheriffs and court officers scoured the county serving the fifty members of the twelfth venire called to report Friday morning to complete the jury in the McNamara murder trial, the attorneys celebrated Thanksgiving.

Interest in the case has again revived, following the sensational allegations of bribery and the association with tions of bribery and the association with the defense of former Governor and Minister to Portugal Henry T. Gage.
The latter's standing in the community has caused a change in sentiment.
Mr. Gage declared today that he is absolutely convinced that the case against Bert Franklin, accused of trying to bribe a prospective juror in the McNamara case, is not sound. He has not made up his mind whether he will fight the case when the hearing before Magistrate Young begins Monday next, or will withhold the defense's side until actual trial in the superior court,
